

Technician Class License

Important – the Question pool for the Technician Class License will be replaced by a new question pool on July 1, 2014. If you are buying a book, it will be better to get a book to cover the new questions and plan to take the exam after July 1, 2014.

Here are links that you may want to look at for information and study for the technician exam. A google search for “ham radio online course free” will bring more information than you will want to look at. Below are a few to get you started.
